INTRODUCTION

» Hello, my name is Simon and I am passionate about sustainable development and migration issues. As a human geographer I gained recognition not only as expert on migration, climate change adaptation, and sustainable development, but also as a science communicator.

As an organized and creative team player, I would love to join your team at ODIs communications team.

SOFT SKILLS & OTHER COMPETENCIES

Pronounced Intercultural Experience | due to my studies of anthropology and numerous extended stays abroad for work, research, or studies in both industrial and developing countries: France, Ethiopia, Sudan, Egypt, Bangladesh, Thailand, Singapore and Cambodia. During the last 10 years I spend altogether 50 months abroad.

Communicator | my passion is to find adapted ways and formats to communicate with both my colleagues (internally) but also with different audiences (externally). In my current position I am responsible for public relations & science communication for the TransRe Project which gave me the opportunity to develop this passion further. I like to share my ideas and feel confident to present also in front of larger audiences but I am at the same time a good listener and open to different views, new ideas and impulses.

Diligence & Accountability | I take responsibilities with great diligence and great motivation furthermore I am reflective person always open for constructive criticism.

Creative & Proactive | I love to think out of the box without abandoning the tried and tested. I like to actively seek new ways of improving my personal work but also participate creatively in team projects and processes.

Organization & Management | having worked with different organizations such as the United Nations University, GIZ, or CARE (Thailand) I am able to develop effective cooperation with internal and external partners and to identify risks and priorities for me and others also in a time-consuming and challenging work environment.

PERSONAL SKILLS

SOFT SKILLS & OTHER COMPETENCIES

Professional Team Player | I have worked in very different teams ranging from homogenous to heterogenous international teams. I have experienced mostly harmonious but also tension-filled situations. I have learned that it is important to reflect on different perspectives but never to neglect the subject matter. Due to my biographical background I am particularly sensitive to gender issues.

Early Adopter | I am aware of recent technologies and trends. I believe that trying new technologies can foster our work but also creativity in what we do. However, I think it is important to critically assess new technologies before adopting them. Currently I am working with: Trello (task management); MaxQDA & SPSS (research analysis); Adobe Illustrator, PowerPoint & Canvas (visuals); Buffer & Twitter (public relation and social media management); Mendaly & Citavi (literature management); Adobe Premiere (video editing); Concrete5 (content management, web page); recently interested in Carto DB (map-based data visualization).

SOCIAL ENGAGEMENT

since 2008

Founding member of the student initiative Weitblick Bonn e.V. focusing on educational justice, spokesman for education projects in Ethiopia until 2013

since 2006

Regular engagement in Les Sources, socio-therapeutic Institution for people with disabilities in France.

OTHERS SKILLS

- Driving License (European Category B, car)
- First Aid three-days training, Red Cross Germany
- Photography & Filming Production and presentation of a multi-vision live show „Grenzgänger – ein Weg durch Äthiopien, Sudan und Ägypten“, presented in eight cities in Germany, several film projects for the Trans|Re Project.
- Visualization
